Post-Secondary Education Opportunities

Inclusion NB supports students with an intellectual or developmental disability, aged 18-30, who wish to pursue post-secondary education and have been accepted to the school of their choice.

Our team members help students to achieve their goals through:

- Identifying the supports they need to have a positive and successful post-secondary education experience;
- Assisting in the preparation of applications for financial assistance, such as New Brunswick student loans;
- Providing ongoing support during their post-secondary career and keeping up-to-date on their progress;
- Assisting the student in identifying and coordinating work placements to gain experience; and
- Assisting the student in securing employment opportunities in their field of study following graduation.

Just Enough Support

Inclusion NB's Post-Secondary Facilitators and students plan together using the Just Enough Support model. This recognizes the importance of seeking the right balance of natural supports, like friends and family, and accessing different types of technology and community-based services.

The purpose of this approach is to build bridges and help the student expand their social relationships and develop their personal autonomy and independence.

Alyssa is a student at NBCC in Fredericton studying Early Childhood Education.

Life after high school is a crucial time to build essential skills and pursue education that opens doors to greater independence and expanded opportunities in work, learning, and community life.

Inclusion NB supports young adults to find their career of choice and gain employment in that field after graduation.
